

How do you shelter in place when home is not the safest place to be? During COVID- 19, we've been instructed to shelter at home because our homes are a safe space. For hundreds of our neighbors, home isn't safe at all—this is why NE Texas Habitat's work is crucial during this crisis.

If you are blessed to have a safe home to shelter in today, please donate to NE Texas Habitat to help your neighbor, shelter safely, too.

More than 500 families that once were in overcrowded, unaffordable, or hazardous homes are in safe homes because they were recipients of Habitat building or repair services. But, today, 110 families are still on our waiting list for these services. Fourteen exterior health and safety repairs are in progress, for the elderly and persons with disabilities right now.

For these families, home doesn't mean safety or comfort. It is overcrowding, health hazards, or housing costs that are so expensive that necessities like quality food, health care, and home maintenance are beyond their reach. Every gift of every size keeps Habitat building and repairing home hazards. Please give $25, $50, $100, or what you can, today, and Habitat will continue helping our neighbors.
